

TAICHI RIDING GEAR COLLECTION
2018-19 AUTUMN/WINTER

SAFETY WITH STYLE

We have been developing various protective gear so that all riders can enjoy their motorcycle lifestyles comfortably and safely.

We have focused on a standard called CE which is being enforced in Europe, and have started selling protectors that has passed CE standard since 2008.

In addition to the CE standard, there are other important factors we consider when developing our protectors.

For conventional protective gear, we have increased protection capacity by thickening them. However, the increased weight and size came at the cost of reduced comfort.

For that reason, we have also continued to develop protectors with excellent operability and comfort, focusing on thinness and lightness while keeping the level of protection capability high. In 2018, we added a new type of shoulder and elbow protector, and a chest protector with enhanced impact absorption performance.

We will pursue safer and more comfortable protectors and continue to make constant efforts to develop products which surpass existing products.
